

Dr. Sutton To Address
Teachers Institute
Here Saturday

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, of Atlanta, former president of the National Educational Association, will deliver a lecture at the Coffee County teachers institute next Saturday, Sept. 4.

Dr. Sutton is one of the most distinguished educators in this country and has been addressing teachers meeting throughout the United States on this tour.

Dr. Sutton's lecture will be open to the public and all have been invited to hear his address. He will speak at the high school auditorium at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

Beginning his education in a one-teacher country school in Georgia, and continuing through high school by riding horseback 15 miles every day, Dr. Sutton made his way to college and to university, studied law, became a teacher and for 23 years served as superintendent of the city schools in Atlanta.

He is now superintendent emeritus of the Atlanta public schools and holds a number of degrees from colleges and universities. He has addressed audiences in every state in the union and has probably spoken to more students and teachers than any other living man.

DEMAND IS GREATER FOR POULTRY AND EGGS

Smaller supplies and higher prices for red meats plus higher consumer income adds up to a stronger demand for poultry and eggs for the rest of the year, declares A. W. Jones, API extension marketing specialist. Supplies of both chickens and eggs will be smaller than in the last half of 1947 and prices will be somewhat higher.

Alabama's Creek Indians gained their name from a group of early South Carolina traders who encountered them when they were in Alabama and Georgia. Although there were many Indian tribes in the state during early times, there were only four distinct "stocks".

America's farms are producing 51 per cent more food than in 1935, with a million fewer workers. Food production has increased tremendously as the farm has been mechanized.

You can make the flavor of canned citrus juice more like that of fresh juice by pouring the chilled juice back and forth from one glass to another just before serving. This puts back the air that was removed during the vacuum canning.

Mosquitos Cut Egg Production In State

A common domestic mosquito is cutting the production of Alabama's laying flocks.

This insect was found in high percentages in chicken houses on more than 200 Alabama farms last year, according to an agricultural experiment station report.

This species composed of over 95 per cent of all mosquitoes that were found, and 95 per cent of them fed on chickens rather than humans.

The appearance of this mosquito is good reason for Alabama farmers to carry out a good sanitation program. Since the mosquito will breed in any stagnant water, all water holding containers such as old tin cans, barrels, buckets and bottles need to be cleaned up around the home. Chicken houses and other out-buildings should be sprayed with a two to five per cent DDT solution which will not only reduce this and other mosquitoes, but will help keep down flies.

Corn Meal Enrichment Program Adopted By Coffee County Millers

Enrichment Provides Needed Vitamins
In Corn Meal

The corn meal enrichment program is underway in Coffee County. During August, three millers attached five machine feeders for adding the enrichment to corn meal. Enriched corn meal has a mixture of Vitamin B1 (or thiamin) which is needed for the normal function of the nerves; Niacin (which is called the pellagra preventing vitamin, ribo-flavin (or Vitamin B2) which protects the eyes and skin and minerals. In other words, the enrichment adds extra food elements needed for good growth and health.

The people of Coffee are for the program. It has been recommended for a number of years by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Doctors, Health Departments and all nutritionists. Thus it is highly recommended that all eat enriched corn meal.

The millers having the attachments all agree to assist farm leaders in seeing that farmers having corn ground into meal get the enriched mixture added. The cost for adding is very small.

Those sponsoring and recommending the program in the county are: The home demonstration council, Mrs. W. P. Windham president; The Farm Bureau, Fred Donaldson president; The county health unit, Dr. G. L. Weldner, Health Officer and the extension service, Mamie B. Mathews, Home Demonstration Agent; Inez Green, Assistant Home Demonstration Agent; J. R. Speed County Agent and Walter F. Sowell, Assistant County Agent.

The three millers in Coffee County cooperating with the corn meal enrichment program are: H. H. Stuary, Kinston; Frank D. Perdue, Elba; and Snellgrove Brothers, Route 2 New Brockton.

Grand Jury Finds Stink In Court House Toilets

State of Alabama, Coffee County In the Circuit Court of Coffee County, Alabama, Elba division. To: Hon. C. C. Brannen, Judge of said court:

We, the Grand Jury empaneled by your Honor on Monday, Aug. 23 1948, wish to submit this as our final report.

We have investigated 28 presentations and hand your Honor on twenty-one indictments, there being 18 felonies and three misdemeanors.

The Grand Jury has inspected the County Jail and find it to be in excellent condition and neatly kept. All the prisoners reported that they were well fed and properly cared for.

The books and records of the various county offices were examined and found to be in order. An examination of Court House property revealed several leaks in the roof that should be cared for immediately in order to prevent further damage to the building. It was observed that some parts of the Court House have been recently painted, making a big improvement in its general appearance. We found the public toilets in the Court House to be in the same deplorable condition that they have been during the last three times the Grand Jury has taken this matter to the attention of the Probate Judge and the County officials. The toilets have been painted but the odor has not been alleviated. We again suggest to the proper officials of the County that these toilets be repaired and modernized so that they may cease to be a disgrace to the County.

The grounds on the east side of the Court Square are very unsightly, brought about by the fact that various boxes, benches, scrap lumber and coal remain thereon. It is believed that these objects could be removed from the court square and we recom-

MISSING PERSONS

The Health Department is trying to locate the people whose crotalaria had spread to this part of the field from the land in above.

One of Mr. Paul's sons, Jim, is taking on-the-farm training, out to life service, one going in. He heard Mr. Edwards explain the value of crotalaria at one of his class meetings. Mr. Edwards is working with Jim's teacher, Cecil Parker, in teaching soil conservation to the class.

A soil conservation plan has been made on the Paul farm. Several more crops and practices will be used with the crotalaria to save and improve the soil. Crimson clover, oats and blue lupine will be planted this fall in carrying out part of the soil conservation plan.

During the early part of the year committees began meeting and planning a building program and launched a financial drive to raise money to build an educational annex to the church as soon as it seems advisable. The results have been very encouraging, and it is now considered that the campaign will be successfully completed. Last week a successful community barbecue was sponsored by the Adult Division of the church under the guidance of Mr. Tommy Thomason, Mrs. A. C. Dunaway, Mrs. Levy Morrow, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Mayo Prescott, Mrs. Frances Farris, Mrs. Harris Murphree, Mrs. Roy Devane and Mr. Harold Deal. Not only was this event financially successful but it served to present to the town a church group united in action and in enthusiasm for an improved church. "We put the barbecue on without hurting anyone by giving," said Brother Sproules early this week, "and that's the way the new annex is going to be built. Before it's over just about every family in the church is going to contribute."

Several years ago, the little group of rural churches formerly called "the Elba Methodist Circuit" were attached to the work of the local church, which work has been quite impressive also. All financial budgets in these churches have been increased. Forty-five new members have been taken in on confession of faith, or re-instated, and building improvements have been made. Every rural church has a Sunday School guided by aid of local talent from its membership having been consecrated to the service. A vocational Bible school emphasizing the Bible for a better Christian Social relations in all of life's contacts was held in each church. 245 children were enrolled under the direction of 31 leaders.

New appointments for the conference year will be made during the processing Sunday afternoon at Montgomery. More than the cry, probably between three and four o'clock.

County Represented At State 4-H Camp

Auburn, Ala. — 4-H club boys and girls from every county in the state are here this week to hold their annual state camp and "Short" Course. Over 500 members and Assistant County Agents began the program Monday and will finish Friday.

The event is stressing leadership and training, state extension service workers who head the program, declared. They say those who are attending will be given instructions which will strengthen county and community 4-H organizations.

Soil Conservation By Edwards and Tullis

"All you said about crotalaria is true," commented John Paul of the Brooklyn community. "It looks like we'll make a bale of cotton to the acre on those two top terraces. They have been in crotalaria for several years now and just go out and look at that cotton," commented Mr. Paul.

When Soil Conservationist Louie Edwards drove up to his farm, Mr. Paul was making baskets while his boys were picking cotton. One of the boys showed Mr. Edwards the cotton. A blind man could almost tell the difference between the two top terraces and the rest of the cotton.

The stalks on the two top terraces were larger, more uniform, greener and had more bolls on them. There were no dead spots in these terraces as there were in the rest of the field. The son told Edwards that corn wouldn't grow over knee high before the crotalaria started growing. The grass in many ways. Seventy-seven members have been taken in; a strong youth Division has been developed. Two young people have consecrated their talents to life service, one going in.

Dressed Broilers Will Bring Extra Profit

There aren't many small Alabama towns in which some enterprising farmer couldn't sell 50 to 100 dressed broilers each week.

John P. Weeks, API extension poultryman, believes this sideline project could be carried on without interfering with other farm business. "There are many towns without this service, and only a few hours of extra work by some produce could pay well," he said.

"Many housewives, cafes, and hotels will not use poultry unless they know who produced and dressed it. Most of the housewives of today do not want to dress their own poultry, and are willing to pay a top price for high quality dressed broilers."

There are many people who would like to produce broilers, but who are not within reach of a wholesale market for their birds.

"These facts have made the home processing plant very profitable and practicable. Many producers have been able to double their income on a given number of birds by selling them dressed and drawn. Of course to be successful, the business must be able to provide a quality product, a dependable supply and an attractive product."

"In most cases the returns for processing and selling the birds are about equal to the returns for growing them. Returns, of course could vary with the size of the birds but the processing Sunday afternoon at Montgomery returns are more stable than the cry, probably between three and four o'clock."

Rev. W. M. Sproules At Annual Conference In Montgomery

Rev. W. M. Sproules, pastor of the Elba Methodist Church, left Wednesday morning for annual Conference of South Alabama and West Florida churches, being held in Montgomery this week. He is presenting this year record of the largest financial budget of the history of the church.

Tommy Thomason is Chairman of the official board and Mrs. Price Ringo, the efficient Secretary-Treasurer. Under this leadership the financial work of the church has gone forward un- everything was paid in full, including all local and connectional responsibilities undertaken Stewards of the church aid in the promoting of the financial budget, in addition to the other responsibilities. Other stewards of the church are: Mrs. R. L. Cooper, Mrs. L. P. Morrow, Harold Deal, A. C. Dunaway, L. F. Finman, Mayo Prescott, Dr. W. M. Ringers, P. H. Sellers, Luther Vaughan, Oscar Vaughan, and C. B. McDowell and R. C. Bryan, the latter being two honorary members. For the new year the names of Mrs. Mary June New- ton, Miss Peggy Blue, and Roder Deal were added to the list.

During the last four years Rev. Sproules service as a pastor of the church has been very successful and the church has made progress in many ways. Seventy-seven members have been taken in; a strong youth Division has been developed. Two young people have consecrated their talents to life service, one going in.

Coffee County contributed her part of the men for the Confederate Army. The first company to become part of a combat unit was the "Coffee Rangers" which became company D of the Twelfth Alabama Infantry at Richmond, Virginia in July 1861. At the end of the war the Regiment surrendered at Appomattox.

Life in Coffee County in 1861 and 1862 was lived at fever pitch. The long period of waiting and uncertainty was over, and the feeling of unrest passed with a job to do. Enthusiasm was high, everyone pitched in to get the men ready for war. Uniforms were made, supplies were collected and when the companies were ready to depart, there were farewells parties and the presentation of colors. The men were encouraged to fight, but exhorted never to surrender. It was a custom for a military company to have a distinctive name; 3 of such names chosen by local outift, and thus messages were carried back and forth, and a letter was something for an entire company or a community to read.

The people continued to operate their old businesses and to start new ones. Newsom Taunton opened the first hotel in Elba in 1861. He advertised as offering the best of lodgings for man or beast. The rates at the hotel were as follows: Board per week, $9.00, per month $12.50, per day $1.00, and 25 cents for an individual meal. Part of the school closed because of the shortage of teachers and because the pupils had to work. Chiltonville Academy continued to operate, but had a great decrease in enrollment.

Several of the county officers went into the Army. Among them was the sheriff, Mason C. Kimmey, also Probate Judge, D. P. Costello went into the service as captain of Company K of the 25th Alabama Infantry.

There began to be some needy cases in the county early in 1862, and Judge Costello took steps to help these families. The first county poor house was built during his years in office, to take care of the most distressing cases. The state helped in this by furnishing free corn and salt to the members of a servicemen's family in want. Judge Costello was elected on January 1, 1863 as Mayor of Elba, after having been wounded at Shiloh.

WILLIE KELLEY, FANNIE HECK CIRCLES MEET

Mrs. T. T. Rhodes and Mrs. H. B. Larkins entertained the members of the Willie Kelley Circle and Fannie Heck Circle of the Baptist W. M. S. Monday afternoon at the home of the former. The living room and porch were thrown open to the circle members and guests were seated. Late summer flowers in lovely arrangements were used in decoration. Mrs. Sam Sawyer, chairman of Fannie Heck circle presided and introduced Mrs. Joe Jernigan of Enterprise. Mrs. Jernigan read a Bible passage and made an interesting talk emphasizing the many ways that we leave Jesus out of our daily living. Following the devotional message, prayer was led by Mrs. George Collier. Mrs. Jernigan made a report on her recent trip to Ridgecrest, N. C. where she attended the W. M. S. conferences.

Mrs. Sawyer presented Mrs. B. H. Redmon of Enterprise who was present and was one who was asked to stand. Mrs. Redmon pinned a blindfold on Merle and then gave her a pencil and paper and directed all the ladies to draw a house. She told them the best drawing would win a prize Merle, believing the other ladies were competing with her, earnestly began to sketch a house. When the blindfold was removed she found the prize to be two lovely pieces of luggage filled with many gifts needed by a college girl. Among the gifts was a blindfold containing several bills. Merle expressed her thanks in a beautiful way. Her words were well chosen yet she showed her surprise and her emotions were evident.

Mrs. Rhodes and Mrs. Larkins invited the guests into the dining room. The table was covered with a handsome hand-made lace cloth and was centered with a lovely crystal punch bowl banded with coral vine and dainty fern. Mrs. James Wise and Mrs. Sam Rowe assisted the hostess in serving punch, sandwiches, cookies and toasted nuts. ##### Home Team

Lesson for September 5, 1948

HUSBAND AND WIFE: Team of tug-of-war? In times when more and more homes are splitting apart, it is refreshing to read the story of one home that stuck together. We do not know whether these two ever had children, no doubt their hearts were happier if they had. But we do know their names. No one who ever spoke of them men- tioned one without the other. You could not think of Aquila without thinking of his wife Priscilla (or vice versa for short), and vice versa. They were displaced persons, but that did not keep them down.

Family Trade Union

LIKE ALL JEWS of that time, they had a specialty, a trade they had learned. In this case someone had taught Priscilla the same trade (or did she learn it from her husband?), so the two of them formed a sort of trade union. They were tentmakers, working not only in heavy tent-cloth but in the tanned skins of which many tents in that time were made. Their home was a workshop, their hands were busy by long use of hard tools, very likely they initiated their produce. P & A tents were good tents. Their business was good, for we know they always had room for another guest, for another hand at the workbench. That was one thing helping their marriage to stick.

How many husbands and wives today are working teams? One reason why divorces are more common in cities than in farms is that the city man and his wife seldom have any work in common, while a farmer and his wife are a working team in which each needs the other to succeed. Priscilla and Aquila were no exception. What was it that was washing the dishes, and you have something to help you hold together through the years.

More Than Meats

ANOTHER bond that held these together was their hospitality. They had a long list of friends, some of them distinguished. We know of Paul and Apollos and we hear of many others. But when Apollos stayed at their house, he was getting more than meats. If you don't do more for a guest than feed him, he might as well be at a restaurant. If you don't do more than amuse him, he might as well be at the movies. What these two did for Apollos was to give him ideas, bigger ideas, truer and better than he had ever had about the Christian faith. No doubt Apollos enjoyed Priscilla's lamb chops, but when he left that home he was not merely a well-fed man but one whose soul had grown.

The Church in Their House

EVIDENTLY the P & A tents made enough money for Priscilla and Aquila to have a spacious home, for we find Paul in a letter mentioning "the church in their house." This more than anything else kept these two together, a working team. You know in every church there are a few key people. They may not be conspicuous, but like the distributor under an automobile hood, if they are not there things do not run smoothly and maybe not at all. Aquila and Priscilla were like that. Their church naturally revolved around them. This makes have taken a good deal of their time, no doubt it cost them money, and it must have meant work. But if the church was in their house it was because they wanted it that way. It would be hard to believe that they asked for this so as to keep themselves from drifting apart, yet undoubtedly that was one effect of it.

The great majority of divorces are among people who have no connection with the church whatever. Many, of course, are of persons who are on church rolls somewhere. But how many broken marriages do you know among persons who are active in Christian work?
